- The WID-I4H Competition is a Swiss based global initiative that promotes innovation in healthcare and medical science worldwide.
- It recognizes that hospital staff, at any level, are in a unique position to identify and pioneer improvements in the patient care ecosystem.
- Teams from Africa, Asia, Europe and North America – the Champions at their local Innovation Days – will compete for the Innovation for Health Award of Excellence.
- The event is free of charge. Pre-registration is compulsory, even if watching the competition via live stream.

Save the dates and join us at this event where you will meet key players in the Healthcare Industry, investors and scientists from around the world.
